

Homeowners doing their own fuel gas installations

$35.00 Residential

Exemptions for Homeowners (RSA 153:36) The license requirements of this subdivision shall not apply to anyone who performs fuel gas fitting within an existing single family, stand alone structure owned and occupied by the person who performs the fuel gas fitting work, and such structure is used as the individual's primary residence. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary, any person who is exempt under this paragraph shall perform fuel gas fitting work in accordance with applicable technical standards, and comply with any applicable code, application, and inspection requirements that may apply to the fuel gas fitting work performed. This only applies if the homeowner is actually installing the work. Homeowners who apply for and are issued gas permits and then decide to contract with a licensed gas fitter, for all or a portion of the work, shall have the licensed gas fitter apply and obtain a gas permit for the work being done by the licensed gas fitter. The homeowner shall not obtain a gas permit and then have someone else (licensed or not) do the work under the permit obtained by the owner.

The undersigned hereby applies for a permit to install gas piping in compliance with RSA 153:36 and the current National Fuel Gas Code and the current Liquefied Petroleum Gas Code
